Thanksgiving Day Mass

Thursday, Nov. 26th

will be held at the

Cathedral @ 9:00 AM

Remember, Advent is not a time and Christmas music. According to Catholic Eve. The Advent Season is a time to pre-Advent as a mini Lent. Penitential acts are to celebrate CHRISTMAS with Christmas parties Tradition the Christmas Season begins on Christmas pare for (not celebrate) Christmas. It helps to think of more appropriate than parties.

Liturgical Reflection...

General
Instruction
of the Roman Missal

During this past liturgical year the General Instruction of the Roman Missal was reviewed. Particular aspects of the Mass were discussed as presented by the Church. The use of bells, the number of candles, the processional cross, decorations around the altar, images of saints, placement of tabernacle, seasonal practices, genuflections and bows, and various liturgical ministries were presented within the context of the mystery of faith. The Church gathers to celebrate the paschal supper instituted by Christ as the Sacrifice of his Body and Blood. The General Instruction is an aid to assist the universal Church at liturgy in giving praise and thanks to our God through our Lord Jesus in the Holy Spirit.

Scripture Reflection

The prophet Daniel, in the First Reading, describes one like the Son of Man (the title that Christ used for himself). God gives dominion and glory to him, so that all may serve him. This is a Kingdom that is both universal and eternal.

From the Gospel, we learn that Jesus' Kingdom "does not belong to this world." It is not a civil or military rule as some expected the Messiah's reign to be. It is not bound by geography or history, but is beyond time and space. The reign of God exists in human hearts and calls for human allegiance to God and God's commandments of love, justice, and hope. It belongs to the heavenly arena, where God's life and love are experienced fully. However, the Kingdom can, in its incipient form, be experienced in this present life. Whenever we experience goodness and love, God is present and therefore so is his Kingdom, at least in miniature. The Kingdom is both present and yet to come in its fullness, when all will belong to God completely.

Pilate asked the Teacher, "Are you the King of the Jews? Jesus answered: "My kingdom is not from this world. If my kingdom were from this world, my followers would be fighting to keep me from being handed over to the Jews. But as it is, my kingdom is not from here." It is a true answer, of course, but also elusive, for though Jesus' kingdom is "not from this world" and does not involve peace treaties, concordats, armies and diplomatic corps, it includes all of this world and all that is in it.

Pilate asked Jesus if he was a king and Jesus replied, "You say I am a king." Jesus is careful with his response, and then clarifies what he means. He is not the kind of king that Pilate is asking about. He has no intention of challenging the Roman rulers. However, his rule is authentic, leading those who hear him to the truth of God's duty of God's representative to serve those in need.

Christ is the universal ruler over nations and peoples.

Does the feast of Jesus Christ, King of the Universe, help you make sense of the Church's role in the world?
