Without making too much of a strain on your family budget how about giving prayerful consideration to making a substantial pledge to this year's Annual Catholic Appeal. I personally find it easier on both the wallet and psyche to stretch over eight months eight monthly electronic payments from my checking account. Doing it this way enables me to have the comfort of a long range view several smaller and manageable payments as opposed the to anxiety of a short range view of one large payment. Although our parents wouldn't dream of using credit for anything, ours is the credit card generation and most of us exercise prudence in taking on debt. Why not use the same thinking in support of the Church.
