Pastor's Eucharistic Holy Hours produce Results!

In previous declarations concerning the practicality of making daily Eucharistic Holy Hours, I joined the millions who have preceded me in extolling how it is that the Real Presence of the Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity of Jesus actually speaks to the heart of the one Adoring Jesus in the Tabernacle.

That wonderful Jewish writer, Franz Werfel, who wrote The Song of Bernadette, captured the dynamic of this phenomenon brilliantly on the first page of his best selling novel. He wrote: "For those who believe, no explanation is necessary. For those who do not believe, no explanation is possible."

Having brought to Jesus on several occasions my frustrations about making so little headway in getting parishioners to make even an occasional, let alone daily, Eucharistic Holy Hour, He let me wallow in my whine for what seemed to me to be an excessive number of prayer sessions. Then one day when He and I were tending to other matters he allowed me, indeed forced me, to see clearly the answer to my ageing and agonizing dilemma. In His wordless way He said, "You're demanding too much too soon."

I think it was He who added: "Heck, even I wouldn't want to spend a whole hour with Me right off the bat."

I know it was He who wordlessly said, "Back off the Holy Hour bit. Push the quick-visit thing. Stop emphasizing Fulton Sheen's Holy Hour experience and tell them of what you yourself observed in the time you spent with your friends Benedict Joseph Groeschel, and Mitch Paqua - how both these busy men would be in and out of the chapel fifty times a day, bringing everything to Me for consultation. The whole point of this relationship with my Real Presence is to find out what My Will is for each and every aspect of your day to day, moment to moment activity. Why not give your parishioners a list of activities which would preclude a [or several] brief visit (s) to the Blessed Sacrament."

In response to this Divine Inspiration I offer:

- Before going to the Doctor
- Before the "big date"
- Before telling anyone off
- Before going on a trip (of any length)
- Before going out for the evening
- Before starting a new diet
- Before buying a new car
- Before going to the Hospital
- Before arguing with your spouse
- Before visiting a sick person at home
- Before starting any new or quitting any old project
- Before doing any unpleasant task
- Before saying yes or no to any proposal
- Before starting a new or ending an old relationship
- Before joining anything
- Before entering into any contract
- Before making any choice between good things
- During any temptation to do bad things
- Before making any major or minor life changes
- Before starting a new job

CARPE DIEM
(seize the day)

From now until the end of time no one else will ever see life with my eyes, and I mean to make the most of my chance.

Christopher Morley

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand; but we are here to play it, and now is our time.

Finding God in Pain or Illness

★ Living every day with sickness is just plain difficult. I know. I lived with a father who had a stroke at age 52 and died at 56. Two years later, I broke my neck and back in a freak accident which left not only my body but my world and my spirit shattered. Why did this happen to me? Where was God in all of this?
