Next Saturday, June 19, 2010 will be the last day of what Pope Benedict XVI had declared the Year of the Priest. Every day at every Mass we here at OLF said prayers to this effect: "That during this year of the Priest, we allow St. John Vianney to inspire us daily, to pray for the priests we have and to nurture the priests we need. Let us pray to the Lord, Lord, hear our prayer.") Also, every Sunday during the year we had a Eucharistic Holy Hour between Masses.

For some unknown reason the Holy Father has not yet designated 2010-2011 for any special intention at all. He might yet do so, and I hope I'm not jumping the gun on him as I presume to designate that time frame (for Our Lady of Fatima Parish only) as the Year of the Blessed Sacrament. Our prayer intentions will center around better qualitative and quantitative participation at all Masses (including daily,) more individual private Eucharistic Holy Hours, more "on the spot" visitations to the Blessed Sacrament. I, as priest and pastor, promise to do those things necessary on my part to make this all happen. Will you, as a pew dweller, make the same promise and commitment? Remember, this is the only place in the 5th Ward where Jesus Christ is truly present, Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity. Also, I declare our intercessor shall be the teenager Saint Stanislaus Kostka. Why him? See next page. Also, someone should start thinking about amassing funds to buy a Statue, (á la St. John Vianney for the year of the priest.)

Stanisław Kostka S.J. (28 October 1550 – 15 August 1568)

He was a Polish novice of the Society of Jesus. He was born at Rostkowo, near Przasnysz, Poland, on 28 October 1550; died at Rome during the night of 14-15 August, 1568. He entered the Society of Jesus in Rome on his 17th birthday (28 October 1567), and is said to have foretold his death a few days before it occurred.

In 25 July of 1564, he and his brother, Paul, arrived at Vienna with their tutor to attend the Jesuit college that had been opened four years before. Stanislaus was soon conspicuous, among his classmates during his 3 years of schooling, not only for his amiability and cheerfulness of expression, but also for his growing religious fervor and piety. His brother Paul said during the process of beatification: "He devoted himself so completely to spiritual things that he frequently became unconscious, especially in the church of the Jesuit Fathers at Vienna. It is true," added the witness, "that this had happened at home to my brother at Easter when he was seated at table with our parents and other persons.

It was Saint Barbara who brought two angels to him during the course of a serious illness, in order to give him the Eucharist. So much piety, however, did not please the older brother Paul; his exasperation led him to treat the innocent Stanislaus with violence. The latter finally lost patience, and one night after Stanislaus had again suffered the harsh comments and blows from brother, he turned on Paul with the words: "Your rough treatment will end in my going away never to return, and you will have to explain my leaving to our father and mother." Paul's sole reply was to swear violently at him.

At Vienna they hesitated to receive him, fearing the tempest that would probably be raised by his father against the Society, which had just quieted a storm unleashed by others entering the Order. Stanislaus quickly grasped the situation and formed the plan of applying to the general of the Society at Rome. The distance was five hundred leagues, which had to be made on foot, without equipment, or guide, or any other resources but the precarious charity that might be received on the road.

On the morning of the day on which he was to carry out his project he called his servant to him early and told him to notify his brother Paul and his tutor in the course of the morning that he would not be back that day to dinner. Then he started, exchanging the dress of gentleman for that of a mendicant, which was the only way to escape the curiosity of those he met. By nightfall Paul and the tutor comprehended that Stanislaus had fled as he had threatened. They were seized with a fierce anger, and as the day was ended the fugitive had gained a day over them.

Stanislaus stayed for a month at Dillingen, where the provincial of that time, Saint Peter Canisius, put the young aspirant's vocation to the test by employing him in the boarding-school. He arrived 25 October, 1567 in Rome. As he was greatly exhausted by the journey, the general of the order, St. Francis Borgia, would not permit him to enter the novitiate of Saint Andrew until several days later. During the ten remaining months of his life, according to the testimony of the master of novices, Father Giulio Fazio, 'he was a model and mirror of religious perfection. Notwithstanding his very delicate constitution he did not spare himself the slightest penance. He had such a burning fever in his chest that he was often obliged to apply cold compresses.

On the eve of the feast of St. Lawrence, Stanislaus felt a mortal weakness made worse by a high fever, and clearly saw that his last hour had come. He wrote a letter to the Blessed Virgin begging her to call him to the skies there to celebrate with her the glorious anniversary of her Assumption. His confidence in the Blessed Virgin, which had already brought him many signal favours, was this time again rewarded; on 15 August, towards four in the morning, while he was wrapped in pious utterances to God, to the saints, and to the Virgin Mary, he died.

He was canonized on 31 December 1726. St. Stanislaus is a popular saint of Poland and many religious institutions have chosen him as the protector of Young people discerning religious vocations.

Your talking points:

- 12" Hoagie Roll
- 2 slices of Baked Ham,
- 2 slices of Bologna
- 2 slices of Salami
- 2 slices of American Cheese
- 1 slice of Provolone Cheese
- Lettuce, Tomato, Onion
- 2 Italian Dressings

The use of this system of calling around brought our last Hoagie Sale to a net profit (all expenses paid) of $945.00. That's more than $730 profit over our previous Hoagie Sale and within fifty dollars of our, not often realized, goal of making a $1,000 at each fund raising event.

Telemarketing works , as long as you have a great product (which we do) and a skilled sales force (which we could...if each parishioner would get on the phone and call five friends, relatives, and associates.) Just, do It!

Page Five... This week at the O.L.F. Parish, in the 5th Ward, and around town

Sunday (today) June 13	Second Apparition of Our Lady of Fatima	I'm counting on parishioners bailing me out this year as even now I have fellow pastors ribbing me about coming in $3,000 + under goal last year in the A.C.A. campaign. Up till last year I used to brag about how for twenty-five years any time I was in charge of an A.C.A. campaign I always came in over goal. O.K.! I've learned my lesson in humility. Please consider making a substantial pledge to this year's A.C.A. campaign.
