St. Vincent DePaul of Altoona Johnstown Diocese

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul is an international catholic lay organization which offers women and men the opportunity for spiritual formation through person-to-person service to the poor and needy.

Founded in France in 1833 by a young college student, Frederic Ozanam, The Society grew quickly. The Society models its service to the poor after St. Vincent de Paul, a French priest who lived in France in the 15th Century. The first SVDP conference in the United States was organized in 1845 in St. Louis, Missouri which today is site of the Society's National Headquarters. The Society was reorganized in the Altoona-Johnstown Diocese in 1981 and continues today with 20 parish conferences,

8 thrift stores, 5 food pantries, 2 food distribution warehouses, 2 family kitchens and a car donation program. Twinning projects assist the needy in West Virginia and areas of Latin America.
