Attention Nostalgia Buffs:

Found neatly stored in the Rectory attic were hundreds of (mostly in-tact) pieces of table china bearing the Gold leaf inscription of "Saint Leo Church." A couple of volunteers put together about 45 sets of 5 piece table settings. Don't break up the settings. Take one setting or as many settings as you like. First come, first served! It's all free! We'll leave this display out for two weeks.

For those whose nostalgia bug doesn't crave a larger number of pieces, but only one or two pieces, we will put on display next week all the pieces which didn't comfortably fit into the 45 sets. Included in this collection will be single cups, plates, serving bowls, gravy boats ,and etc., etc., etc.

Note: Anything of this collection left in our possession after June 17, 2013 will be permanently disposed of in a respectful manner deemed suitable by the Pastor.

In this Year of Faith, Know your Faith:

The Real Presence in the Eucharist

by Frank J. Sheed

The Blessed Eucharist is the Sacrament. Baptism exists for it, all the others are enriched by it. The whole being is nourished by it. It is precisely food, which explains why it is the one sacrament meant to be received daily. Without it, one petition in the Our Father—"Give us this day our daily bread"—lacks the fullness of its meaning.

Early in his ministry, as St. John tells us (ch 6), Our Lord gave the first promise of it. He had just worked what is probably the most famous of his miracles, the feeding of the five thousand. The next day, in the synagogue at Capernaum on the shore of the sea of Galilee, Our Lord made a speech which should be read and reread. Here we quote a few phrases: "I am the Bread of Life"; "I am the Living Bread, which came down from heaven. If any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever: and the bread that I will give, is my flesh for the life of the world"; "He that eats my flesh, and drinks my blood, has everlasting life: and I will raise him up in the last day. For my flesh is meat indeed: and my blood is drink indeed. He that eats my flesh, and drinks my blood, abides in me, and I in him"; "He that eats me shall live by me."

He saw that many of his own disciples were horrified at what he was saying. He went on: "It is the spirit that quickens: the flesh profits nothing." We know what he meant: in saying they must eat his flesh, he did not mean dead flesh but his body with the life in it, with the living soul in it. In some way he himself, living, was to be the food of their soul's life. Needless to say, all this meant nothing whatever to those who heard it first. For many, it was the end of discipleship. They simply left him, probably thinking that for a man to talk of giving them his flesh to eat was mere insanity. When he asked the Apostles if they would go too, Peter gave him one of the most moving answers in all man's history: "Lord, to whom shall we go?" He had not the faintest idea of what it all meant; but he had a total belief in the Master he had chosen and simply hoped that some day it would be made plain.

There is no hint that Our Lord ever raised the matter again until the Last Supper. Then his meaning was most marvelously made plain. What he said and did then is told us by Matthew, Mark, and Luke; and St. Paul tells it to the Corinthians (1 Cor 10 and 11). Here is St. Matthew's account of the establishment: "Jesus took bread, and blessed, and broke: and gave to his disciples, and said, Take ye and eat: This is my body. And taking the chalice he gave thanks: and gave to them, saying: Drink ye all of this. For this is my blood of the New Testament, which shall be shed for many unto remission of sins."

Congratulations are in order for 74 families represented by the names above.

 The figures posted above represent 45% of Parishioners participating. Use either your imagination or your higher math skills to figure out what that Pledge number would be if the participation number were 100%.

Seen another way:

Roughly 150 census units [that is, families or individuals] who have not yet pledged to the 2013 ACA campaign could bring us over the top with each pledging just under $10.00. I know we'll make it one way or another but it would be a strong statement of parish solidarity if we could get our participation number up to 100%. The ACA campaign after all is not a collection taken up among the parish's so called "rich people" only. Remember, Jesus praised the poor widow who gave only two mites, he did not absolve her from giving them. You will have 6 months to pay off your pledge!
